

PRIME MINISTER VISITS WATERGATE

Italian Prime Minister Aldo Moro took time out during his official visit in Washington this week to view construction progress at the $66 million Watergate apartment project in Foggy Bottom. Guiseppe Cecchi (left), of the Italian firm developing the project, shows the prime minister how the first building, Watergate East, is progressing. Moro and the group of Italian officials accompanying him on his Washington visit also toured the Watergate Exhibit Hall at the site.